Spartan Singers To Show Soon in 'Bartered Bride'

Six Spartans will be featured in leading singing roles when the San Jose Grand Opera association presents Smetana's "The Bartered Bride" Saturday at 8 p.m. in University of Santa Clara theater.

SJSC Students Participating

Student and graduate performers from San Jose State college will be Lola Portal, Robert Madsen, Gordon Voiles, Donald Lev, Helen DiMaggio, and Thomas O'Leary.

The colorful Czech opera is complete with scenery, costumes, and orchestral accompaniment by the San Jose Civic Symphony orchestra.

Miss Portal majored in music and education before her graduation from college. At present she is a kindergarten teacher at Fremont Elementary school. She has appeared in several shows presented by the Santa Clara Wutzit club.

Madsen's previous experience includes the singing lead in "New Moon" with the San Jose Light Opera company. The young singer is now a voice student of Mr. Ingebrigt A. Thormodsgaard, instructor in music at San Jose State college.

Hailing from Sumner, Wash., Voiles has appeared in "In Old Vienna" and "The Pirates of Penzance." He was tenor soloist in "Christmas Oratorio" by Saint Saens.

O'Leary, possessor of a fine bass voice, is also a voice student of Mr. Thormodsgaard.

Miss DiMaggio recently sang a lead in a minstrel show given by the Wutzit group.

Lev Among Principals

Among the other principals from San Jose State college is Donald Lev, who played the Duke of Albany in "King Lear." This play was given on Washington Square last winter.

Special student rates will be charged for this repeat performance in the Santa Clara theater.

Santa Clara Valley (UP)—Occasional high cloudiness today, little change in temperature.

Journalism Prof. Elected Officer Of Coin Collectors

Mr. Charles V. Kappen, assistant professor of journalism, was elected to the five-man board of directors of the California State Numismatic association, last Sunday.

The state Numismatic convention, at which Kappen gave an address on "British Regal Copper and Bronze Coinage," was held at the Hotel Sainte Claire, April 15-17.

Kappen had a complete display of his "type" collection of British copper and bronze coins at the hotel. Association displays amounted to about a quarter of a million dollars, according to information received.

Following Kappen's address, he was asked to write an article for the national monthly magazine, "The Numismatist," on the subject of his talk.

Kappen's specialties include United States colonials, copper and bronze coins and other U.S. coins in "types."

Students May Buy Symphony Tickets At Reduced Rates

Music and non-music majors of San Jose State college will have the opportunity to participate in the San Francisco Symphony forum this year by buying season tickets at half price, the Music department said today.

This forum makes it possible for Spartan student body members to hear symphonic music played by the San Francisco Symphony orchestra under the direction of Pierre Monteux. Concerts will be presented on Thursday nights before student audiences in the War Memorial Opera House.

Campus meetings will be held in order that forum members may participate in constructive discussions of music. They will also hear and see noted artists, who will speak at these San Jose gatherings.

Students interested in purchasing season tickets are urged to sign up on the sheet posted in the Music building by Friday. Regular ticket prices will be slashed one-half for students.

Pritchard Attends Soroptimist Confab

Mrs. Izetta Pritchard, assistant dean of women, will leave Thursday for Phoenix, Ariz., where she will attend a national convention of Soroptimists.

Mrs. Pritchard, vice president of the local group, will serve as one of the California regional delegates.

WSSF Delegates To Plan Campaign

Organization and living group representatives for the forthcoming World Student Service Fund drive are requested by Chairman Marsh Pitman to be present at a meeting tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. in room 24.

"We want anyone interested in soliciting the faculty or working in the WSSF booth in the Library arch to be present," Pitman said.

Dr. Harry Fitch, WSSF adviser, will discuss final details of the drive, and Helen Davis will speak on "What WSSF Is Doing."

Foreign Foods Dinner Launches WSSF Drive

A kickoff dinner officially opening the World Student Service Fund drive will be held Monday at 5:30 p.m. in the basement of the Grace Baptist church, 10th and San Fernando streets, Alice Samson, dinner chairman, announced today.

Tickets for the affair are on sale in the Graduate Manager's office, room 16, for 85 cents.

Coop. Bookstore To Clear Deficits, Felse Forecasts

Spartan Shop fountain and bookstore may be out of the red by June 1950, according to Graduate Manager Bill Felse.

At present Spartan Shop still owes $31,990.81 of $81,458.31 in loans contracted in the spring of 1947. This money was borrowed for alterations on the fountain in the Student Union, and for restocking the bookstore.

Mr. Felse stated that if the last note is paid off by June 1950, the Spartan Shop board will decide then whether it will reduce prices or make further alterations.

In 1944 the entire net profits of the Spartan Shop, amounting to $1,135.61, were turned over to the student body. It was the last time this was done. According to Felse, $1,000 was disbursed to the student body as a token of good faith in December of 1947. This money was used to erect a press-box on the east side of Spartan stadium.

The inventory of the bookstore has reached $100,000 at times, and a current provisional insurance policy extends to cover an inventory of $112,000.

The policy of the store has been to keep the inventory at a minimum, but to accommodate a large number of students it must stock heavily in comparison with pre-war status.

A board of seven faculty members and four students is responsible for governing the Spartan Shop. This board is appointed by the Student Council. Dr. Milburn Wright is chairman, Dr. William Poytress, vice chairman, and Mr. Bill Felse non voting secretary. Dr. Raymond Barry, Dr. Carl Duncan, Dr. William Myers, Mr. E. S. Thompson, and Mr. Milton Lanyon are also on the board. Student members of the board are Robert Cook, Don Lathrop, Dean Price, and Al Caldwell.

No Movie

Due to the unavailability of requested foreign films, the first of a new "unusual movie" series has been cancelled, the Speech office reported yesterday. There will be no movie in the Little Theater tonight.

Soap Co. Denies Tallulah's Claim

NEW YORK, April 19 (UP)—A soap company declared today that Actress Tallulah Bankhead has no monopoly on her unusual first name but shares it with a 10,000-ton oil tanker, a town, a line of canned goods, a soft drink, and a number of persons and animals.

The Procter & Gamble company derided Miss Bankhead's claim that all America thinks of her alone when the name Tallulah is mentioned. Its reply to the actress was filed with the New York Supreme court in answer to her $1,000,000 damage suit protesting a singing commercial urging listeners to "squeeze Tallulah the tube of Prell shampoo."

Miss Bankhead, currently appearing on Broadway in "Private Lives," said the ditty caused her embarrassment and distress. Her

The dinner will be an international affair with dishes from different countries receiving WSSF aid, Miss Samson said.

Anderson To Speak

Mrs. Ruth Anderson, former WSSF traveling secretary, will speak on what WSSF is doing in Europe. Mrs. Anderson toured Europe in the summer of 1946, and attended international student conferences and seminars in Norway, Poland and Czechoslovakia. She is now organizing the WSSF campaign at San Francisco State college.

Lothar Bossing, San Jose State college student from Germany, will speak on conditions in Western Germany. Bossing's passage from Europe was partially paid for by WSSF.

Local WSSF Chairman Marsh Pitman will outline final plans for the fund drive at San Jose State college.

In addition, "This Is Their Story," a movie depicting the work of WSSF, will be shown.

Organizations Invited

All organization and living group representatives are requested by Miss Samson to attend. They will receive information concerning their responsibilities in the drive and pledge blanks will be distributed, the chairman said.

Salary Increases For SJSC Faculty May Come Soon

Across-the-board salary increases for faculty members at San Jose State college are virtually assured, Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, college president, said yesterday.

The increases have not been approved by all officials concerned, according to Dr. MacQuarrie, but since the representative of the State Personnel board instructed the college to make provision for them in its budget there is little doubt of their final approval.

Dr. MacQuarrie said that the funds for the increase were appropriated two years ago to adjust salary scales to changing conditions. The increase will amount to about 5 per cent and will be retroactive to last September.

Teachers or Guards?

Leaders of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education recently appealed to President Truman to push for early action providing federal aid to public, elementary and secondary schools.

Thus, in viewing the estimated 13,500 college graduates prepared to teach in the place of a needed 100,000, it would appear that there is a definite need for some manner of federal aid. The prospects must be more desirable for student teachers today, especially since it is expected that enrollments will increase approximately 50 percent in the next decade.

With this recent appeal to the President and congressional leaders, it brings to mind the statement made during the depression by the late Mr. Roosevelt's Commissioner of Education, George F. Zook, when he said that "a future depression must never find our educational needs in such a state." Mr. Zook continued to point out the possible effects if, for one generation, the people of the United States were without education.

This belief has been repeatedly expressed by such men as George Washington, James Monroe and John Quincy Adams. It has been supported by both the Republican and Democratic parties, and President Truman stated specifically, "Our educational systems face a financial crisis."

However, when a need arises, its natural to press as rapidly as possible to the nearest remedy or panacea that promises to secure us from these evils. This is the real test, in finding some plan of action that will actually be an improvement over the condition as it was.

As well as meeting the need for educational aid and remedying a great shortage of teachers, we must look for a plan that will not be our first "5-year plan in education."

It is a well established precedent that the states alone control the education of their citizens, but it is also a well established precedent that there are grants-in-aid to the states, without controls, as witnessed by the nearly 160 federal aid plans in education.

If the rights of the states can be guaranteed and if the Federal government can help the states to be strong, we may well have cause to be proud of ourselves and look with more confidence to a brighter tomorrow.

As Horace Mann once said, "If we do not enlarge our schools today, we must provide bigger prisons tomorrow."

I Ain't Stingy

Dear Thrust and Parry:

To the devil with all of this parley about budgeting the council. I know if I were going to Sun Valley I would shudder at the thought of traveling in a bus surrounded by clouds of lethal gas fumes or even in the invariably slow trains that creep through the Pacific Northwest.

Leave us spend the $450 for the council's plane and let it go at that. Incidentally, I have no connection whatever with the council, except that of an interested student spectator who frowns on constant penny-pinching, necessary though it may be at times. For once let's go all the way.

Spardi Gras Beards Grow Bushy 'n Big

'Get Going Early' Says Trigger Dick

By "HAIRLESS JOE" ROMERO

The recently proposed beard growing contest, to be held in conjunction with this year's Spardi Gras, is causing quite a stir among male members of Spartanville.

The early beginning was devilishly devised by Dick (Call me Trigger) Cirigliano, acting in the capacity of chairman for the forthcoming Spardi Gras. "Trigger" has turned the annual beard growing contest, usually beginning two weeks before the big celebration, into a razor blade advertiser's nightmare by announcing that this season's whisker raising will begin on April 22.

Some long chin whiskers are certain to be developed in the ensuing month-and-a-half until (that word again) Spardi Gras on June 3.

Prize For Stubbles

The question facing Cirigliano at this juncture is whether the usual prize of a well-known razor will have to be changed to brace of motor driven hedge clippers, but nonplussed "Trigger" Dick has come forth with a new wrinkle—a trophy for the organization with the 10 best stubbles, plus an individual prize.

Complications in the form of objections by various females are already setting in. However, it seems that a few of the gals don't take kindly to the idea of "Hairless Joes" for boy friends. Some Spartan co-eds polled were in favor of the contest as they say it would help weak-chinned personalities no end.

Then there is the problem that crops up most often in beard raising contests. Certain male members of the student body will just say "the 'ell with it," and let the fuzz sprout without ever signing up. It affords a good excuse for those who don't particularly care to shave daily, and who don't care a hoot about the contest. There are cases on record, however, where non-participants had longer beards than the winner.

Moptop Will Yip, Yap or Yell-He Peeps Movies

Introducing "Moptop", the Spartan Daily's peerless critic of the drama, who will grace these pages in the future with his observations concerning the local theater. College plays and first-run movies will come under "Moptop's" all-seeing eye and his reports will provide a guide for Spartan theatergoers.

As can readily be seen from the above cuts, "Moptop's" versatile pan is capable of running the gamut of emotions from extreme ecstasy to the very doldrums of despair; depending of course on the quality of the production he is reviewing.

In other words, if the play or movie in question is a 14 carat, super-duper production which should cause entertainment seekers to bash the doors of the playhouse down to get in, then "Mop's" face will reflect it with the "Excellent" expression.

If the production is "good" in that few or no Oscars will be handed out but the show is well worth seeing, then the "Mop" will give out with his pious, hands-up look.

Perhaps the play or movie being reviewed is just run-of-the-mill stuff that might possibly rate a mild "ho-hum" or be three or four points away from being a lemon. "Moppy" would be inclined to strike his chin scratching, pensive expression which would hint at a "Fair" rating for the epic in question.

"Moptop" reserves the right of using his thumbs-down, tongue-out, Sad Sack face for the comparatively few "smellerinos" that Hollywood occasionally puts forth for public consumption. This pained expression would naturally come under the title "Poor" and the reader, upon seeing it accompanying a review is encouraged to either run hastily in the opposite direction or attend the movie or play if only to call the reviewer a liar.

All reviews, incidentally, will be written by various members of the Spartan Daily staff on behalf of "Moptop" who has yet to learn how to transfer his gargoyle countenance into mere words.

Belt May Stop Neckline Drop Says Noted H'wood Designer

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

United Press Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 19 (UP)—Lili, the French designer who peddles "frontless bosom" gowns to gals who don't worry about catching cold, said today she got her inspiration from millionaire Howard Hughes.

Singlehandedly, he fathered when he put Jane Russell in a low-necked blouse, planted her in a haystack, and told her to bend over.

We doubt if Airplane Builder-Movie Producer Hughes gives a hoot, but Lili wants it known if it hadn't been for him women would still be wearing collars up to their necks—instead of where their belts used to be.

"All this screaming about what designer started the trend for exposing the bosom makes me furious," she declared hotly. "Dior lowered the skirts—but Hughes lowered the necklines."

Lili designs no-top dresses and lets the goose-pimples pop where they may. She says this is an "elemental determination of the female to continue the human race in the face of atomic warfare."

She says Hughes caught the same message from the spaces when he plastered Miss Russell's charms on billboards around the country. That took a lot of doing—because the Russell neckline preceded the atom bomb by a matter of three years.

Be it civilization—or boxoffice—Hughes made that blouse an overthe "bra-less bustline," she says, night sensation. And Lili's taking it from there. The creations she turns out are what she calls the "uninhibited bust"—and make plunging necklines look like turtle-neck sweaters.

She orders her customers to throw away their "uplifts" and show up at the night spots with nothing above their waistline except sheer lace and transparent net.

Summer Camp Treks Planned for Natural Science Enthusiasts

A chance to spend a week in the mountains or at the seashore, and to learn something about nature the natural way, as well as earn two quarter units in natural science is the way Dr. Gertrude Cavins describes the three trips being planned for this summer by the West Coast Nature school.

Registration Opens Tomorrow

Dr. Cavins, registrar of the school, announced that official registration for any or all of the trips will open tomorrow morning at 8 in the Science office.

The three study areas are Sequoia National park, Fallen Leaf lake (Tahoe area), and Asilomar (Monterey area).

"The purpose of these nature schools is to teach through observation the things that are usually learned, or taught, from books," Dr. Cavins explained. "We arrange a schedule of trips so that the student spends each day with a different instructor, covering a different field of study."

Dr. Cavins pointed out that a typical day's schedule would begin at 7 with breakfast, trail class at 8, lunch at 12, sight-seeing trips at 2, supper at 6, followed by a short evening meeting at 7.

May Double Staff

"At present we have five instructors for the Sequoia trip," Dr. Cavins said, "but if the enrollment warrants it we will double the staff in order to put two trail groups on the same subject each day."

Those listed as instructors at present are Dr. Victor Peterson, trees; Dr. Carl Duncan, insects and related animals; Dr. Robert Rhodes, flowers and shrubs; Mrs. Emily Smith, birds. One instructor is not yet assigned.

"If enough students are interested," the WCNS registrar continued, "camping groups such as the one employed at Death Valley will be organized for both the Sequoia and Fallen Leaf trips."

"There are, however, cabin and lodge accommodations at either of these locations for as little as $7.50 a day, American plan, or $2.25, European plan."

"Students will be signed up in the order in which their registration fee of $15 is paid," Mrs. Margaret Guenther, Science office secretary said. "The dates for the trips are Sequoia, June 26-July 2; Fallen Leaf, July 3-9; Asilomar, July 10-16."

"At the present time Academic Scholars is in the process of reorganization," revealed Dr. Richard H. Dieckmann, adviser of the society. "A new constitution is now before the student council for approval."

Dr. Dieckmann explained that student members will take over direction of Academic Scholars under faculty supervision. An expanded program also is being planned.

Home Economics Display Features Cotton Industry

"White Gold" is the name of the project being featured this week in the display cases at the Home Economics building. The display presents a clear and comprehensive picture of the cotton industry.

Miss Virginia Diestel, senior Home Ec major, arranged the display as a project for Dr. Jones' Home Economics Method class.

Each of the show cases depicts a separate phase of production, for example, the manufacture of thread, cotton products, and by-products. A wall map of the United States is marked to show the various cotton producing areas.

Of unusual interest is the display showing the newest in cotton fabrics, including an iridescent, metallic and cotton taffeta. Accompanying each material is a plate suggesting the designs suitable for the material.

The plates were made by Dorene Sewell, Sumiko Minado, and Jeanne Evans for their class in Costume Design and Selection, taught by Miss Baird.

Termination Date For SB Officers Confuses Court

"When do the new come in, and when do the old leave?" This question bounced about the Student Court chambers at the Monday meeting and sent court officers scurrying to read the constitution, check old minutes for election dates and look for information in general.

Senior Justice Don DeGeller thrust this thorn in the judicial body's side when he said the constitution states that all elected officers serve for one year.

DeGeller contended that if the officers chosen in the coming spring elections wish to take office immediately, the outgoing officers could refuse to leave until their terms officially expire.

Chief Justice Tom Eddy and his associates immediately went to work. The outcome? The election will be legal. The court decided that the officers will be elected in April, but will not assume office until June 2, at the Recognition assembly.

Stanford Prof. Says German-Russian Tie Has Little Chance

PALO ALTO, Calif., April 19 (UP)—Dr. Karl Brandt, Stanford university economist recently returned from Europe, said today that "There is not the slightest danger" of Germany siding with the Russians.

Brandt, who spent one year assisting in the rehabilitation of Western European universities, said that the Germans have had "too much education on what the Russian paradise really is."

He explained that several thousand Germans, most of them escaped slave laborers, come into the Allied occupation zone every week.

"I talked with some escapees from Russian uranium mines whose condition will haunt me forever—boys of 19 who looked like men of 40," he said.

Speaking of the economic situation, Dr. Brandt said that American aid and an abundant 1948 crop have put Western Europe "well on the road to recovery."

Prelate Rebukes Fired Teachers

BOSTON, April 19-(UP)—Three Boston college instructors who protested their firings as "heresy" were rebuked today by Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, who revealed that a priest who defended them had been stripped of his authority.

The Archbishop said that the Rev. Leonard Feeney, S. J., had been without the "faculty" of the Boston Archdiocese since Jan. 1 and "has been defying the orders of his legitimate superiors for more than seven months."

Priest Without Power

In a statement issued last night the prelate announced that Father Feeney, "because of grave offenses against the general laws of the Catholic Church, has lost the right to perform any priestly functions, including preaching and teaching of religion."

The Archbishop also said any Catholic who frequented Saint Benedict's center, headed by Father Feeney in Cambridge, or participated in its activities would forfeit the right to receive the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist.

The Rev. Feeney, author of "Fish on Friday," and a former English professor at Boston college, could not be reached for comment. He has been at the Catholic information center used chiefly by Harvard students since 1947 and formerly was on the staff of the Catholic magazine, "America."

The Archbishop rebuked the teachers and said he was "obliged to deplore the actions they have taken and the serious scandal which they have caused."

He said he felt impelled to issue a statement "on this painful matter" after the teachers visited him yesterday.

The discharged instructors were Fahri Maluf, assistant philosophy professor, Charles Ewasio, assistant physics professor, and James R. Walsh, philosophy instructor, all of Cambridge. They were joined by David D. Supple of Newton, a Boston College high school teacher of German who said he too had been fired. High school officials, however, said Supple's status was "under consideration."

Archbishop Makes No Comment

The Archbishop said he had no comment to make as regards the instructors' relations with Boston College. He said the institution acted on its own authority in firing them and "I do not see what the college authorities could have done in the face of the disciplinary problem with which they were confronted."

The teachers had charged the Jesuit institution was teaching heresy by telling students there was salvation outside of the Catholic church.

The Rev. William L. Keleher, S. J., president of Boston College, dismissed them on the grounds that their ideas were leading to bigotry and intolerance and were "erroneous."

The teachers said a few hours before Arch Bishop Cushing released his statement they would lay their case before "every bishop in the United States and every cardinal, patriarch and metropolitan bishop in the whole world."

Father Feeney came to the defense of the teachers in a statement Sunday night and the Archbishop said he regretted that the priest's name had been "brought into the public press."

That, the prelate said, obliged him to reveal "the unhappy fact" that Father Feeney had been without priestly powers since last January.

Featured with the band will be basketball Don "Dead-Eye" McCaslin who, according to Cirigliano, only occasionally sits down while playing the piano.

SPARTAN DAILY 5

Eberhardt, 'Y' Speaker Humorous About Time

Mr. Del Eberhardt, who speaks at the Student Y retreat this week-end, appears to be a noteworthy personality. In a letter sent to the Y, he stated philosophically, concerning the rapidity of time, "I have just turned the ripe old age of 35, but can't imagine myself more than about 22."

"It may not be to my credit to admit it," he added, "but I have held such a variety of jobs that I feel I am an expert on at least a little geography."

It would sound logical, after briefly characterizing Eberhardt, to give students who attend the retreat some knowledge of this popular speaker's background.

Eberhardt, according to Mrs. Janet Anderson, executive secretary of the Y, has been extremely popular with student groups.

His undergraduate work was done at Mission House college at Plymouth, Wisc. For a number of years he did graduate work at the following schools: Vanderbilt University School of Religion in Nashville, the Co-operative Manager's Training Institute at Minneapolis, which was then Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, and Scarritt college in Nashville.

He has held parishes in Tennessee, Montana and Northern California. One winter he taught at the Winnebago Indian school in Neillsville, Wisc.

Eberhardt's latest work was with the American Friends Service committee in Europe where he spent two years as a relief worker. Most of his time was spent in Hungary and France.

At present he is director of religious education and recreation for the Council of Churches in Santa Cruz.

Park Resolution Goes To Congress

SACRAMENTO, April 19 (UP)—The State Senate yesterday passed with only one opposing vote a resolution asking Congress to refuse passage of a bill to create a Franklin Delano Roosevelt National Forest in the Northern California redwood country.

The congressional bill, by Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, would set up the forest in sections of Del Norte, Humboldt and Mendocino counties. The legislative resolution to block it was introduced by Sen. Edwin J. Regan, D., Weaverville.

Regan told the Senate the forest would cut by more than one-half the taxable areas of the three counties. He said further that the Douglas bill was "unique" in that it gave the Department of Interior power to set the boundaries of the proposed forest.

Cities, as a result, he said, could be included in the forest area and taken by the government.

Champion Spartan Team Will Go to Stockton Tomorrow to Face Golfers From Their Arch Rivals, COP Bengal Tigers

Sketches of Champion Spartan Golfers Presented Below

By JACK RUSSELL

An undefeated band of Spartan golfers, fresh from their team victory in the NCI tournament at Pasatiempo, will travel to Stockton tomorrow to face a strong C.O.P. squad. The Tiger golfers will be led by Buddy Troyer, sensational youngster from Santa Cruz, who teamed with Ken Venturi of San Francisco Sunday at Pasatiempo, to defeat Warren MacCarty and Al Nelson in a special match. The C.O.P. team presents the strongest threat to a Spartan victory in the CCAA tournament which will be held May 6-7 at Stockton.

Spartan Sketches

The following is a series of sketches of individual members of the San Jose State golf team, coached by Eddie Duino. Sketches of the other members of the national championship team will appear in future issues of the Spartan Daily. State Nine To Perform In Southland

Meet Marines, San Diego State

Sixteen baseball players representing San Jose State college entrained this morning for Ocean-side, Calif., where they will stop for a game with Camp Pendleton, before moving on to San Diego for the CCAA opener Friday afternoon.

Tomorrow the locals will play their last tune-up contest against the Marine aggregation, with any of six hurlers receiving the starting mound assignment. In order to save the chucking department, Coach Walt Williams probably will alternate his staff, with everyone seeing action before the game has run its course.

Friday the Spartans will meet a team that has won two games and dropped four in league play to date. The Aztecs have been defeated twice by College of Pacific and dropped two out of three to a potent Fresno State college Bulldog.

A double header on tap for Saturday afternoon with San Diego winds up the trio of encounters. The Spartans will depart from the Border city shortly after the game's conclusion, and will arrive in San Jose at 8:56 a.m. Sunday.

Making the trip are six pitchers, Ralph Romero, Pete Mesa, Bob Santos, Ray Jacobus, Con Mahoney and Al Van Aman; two catchers, Pete Denévi and Dave McCarty; four infielders, Dean Giles, Tom Okagaki, Don Lopes and Will Concklin; and four outfielders, Bob Wuesthoff, Earl Wright, Mel Stein, and Stan Peterson. Manager Stu Fowler and Coach Walt Williams complete the traveling unit.

The Washington Square entry is the last conference crew to commence loop play. Four institutions, Fresno State, Cal Poly, Santa Barbara, and College of Pacific have performed three times, with San Diego being the only team to participate in six tilts.

Next week-end, April 29-30, the Spartans invade the land of the Gauchos for a triple appearance against Santa Barbara State. With this series the locals' road excursions will be completed for the year. Nine conference frays will be played on San Jose's home grounds.

Con Maloney, who didn't figure in the plans of this year's pennant contender, has been added to the regular throwing line for this Southern invasion, if not for the entire league campaign.

NINE 440 MEN AT SJS

Many track coaches would perhaps be content with some of the "slopover" which Spartan Coach "Bud" Winter has for the 440. His first four men and their best times are: Bob Crowe, 48; Stu Inman, 48.6; Fred Mangini, 48.8; and Bob Herrick, 48.1. In the event one or more of these men are injured, Winter still has Lloyd Warthan, 50.5; Bob Nicholai, 52.0; L. W. Hall, 51.0; Steve O'Meara, 50.5, and Hank Plymire, 51.0.

JACK LOUNSBERRY—Junior Radio Engineering major from Kalamazoo, Mich. 24 years old. Member of Michigan State high school championship team for three years in row.

PACIFIC TRACKSTERS WAIT IN BUSHES FOR SAN JOSE STATE

By HANK PLYMIRE

According to information received by Coach "Bud" Winter from Thelno Knowles, former Spartan track great, who now lives in the Stockton area, College of Pacific is eagerly awaiting the invasion of Stockton's Baxter stadium by the local thinclads. The meet will be held Saturday night, field events starting at 7:30 and the running events at 8. Knowles told Winter the Tigers seem to want to play the rough 1948 SJS-COP football game, won by the Spartans, 14-7, over again, in the coming track contest.

Sparta may be without the services of several of her stars, or may operate with a number of them ailing. Jack Passey, hurdler, is on the questionable list with a leg injury, as is Bob Crowe, competent sprinter. Boyd Porch, number one Spartan javelin thrower, is still nursing a sore arm and according to Winter may not throw until the meet.

Lowell Nash, who ran in the 2:01's against Stanford and picked up a third place point in the 880, has elected to graduate, having sufficient units to do so. This leaves a weak event weaker, inasmuch as no Spartan has broken 2:00 flat.

Winter claims this will be a close meet and could easily go one way or the other by virtue of outstanding performances by individuals of either team.

The Spartan track head expressed the hope that he would be able to experiment with his men in events other than their usual in the coming meet. However, in view of the intense feeling aroused over this meet and the probability of an upset by the Tigers, he will undoubtedly refrain from much experimenting and concentrate on sending the Stockton team down to defeat.

Present transportation plans call for the team to leave here on the "Yellow Peril" — their bus — at 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

BOXING FILM TODAY

Today Spartan boxing fans will be able to judge for themselves the disputed decisions involving the State boxing team at Wisconsin.

Movies of all of the bouts will be shown in the Morris Dailey auditorium this afternoon at 2:30 and 3:30. Coach Dee Portal has announced. Remember, there are two showings, one at 2:30 and one at 3:30 this afternoon.

The Hot Corner

By CLIFF DANIELS

Another baseball season is underway, and the Spartans will travel to San Diego April 22 to inaugurate their CCAA schedule in a three-game set with the San Diego State Aztecs.

The local team, which finished last in the 1948 race, will be trying to improve upon this position in the coming campaign. Coach Walt Williams has a squad composed of veterans, transfers, and freshman graduates who could spring a surprise before the schedule has run its course.

Formable Pitchers

The Spartans have a formable hurling staff, with righthanders Ralph Romero, Bob Santos, Ray Jacobus and Pete Mesa, and portsider Cliff Craig. Only Romero and Santos performed on the varsity last year. Mesa has shown a lot of ability in practice tilts, and should win his share of games after the championship battle gets underway.

Dean Giles, Tom Okagaki, Don Lopes, and Will Concklin compose the infield, and if previous performances are any criterion, Lopes should experience another successful season, both in the field and at the plate. The hard-hitting shortstop batted at a .341 clip last year.

Okagaki, second base, and Giles, first base, are starting their first full season of action. Okagaki played in two league games last year and indicated potentialities with the willow.

Concklin, third base, cavorted at this position during the 1948 campaign, and batted a respectful .240; however, improvement at the plate by Concklin would give the local nine a terrific shot in the arm.

Catching Department

Better hitting by catcher Pete Denevi, and capable assistance from Dave McCarty and Dale Fisher will give the Stater's a representative receiving trio.

Outfielders are in abundance, with six flychasers outfitted in Spartan spangles. Bob Wuesthoff, Earl Wright, Mel Stein, Al Van Aman, Stan Peterson, and Len Smith will all see considerable action before the curtain is drawn.

Cal Poly, who finished in a rush to grab second place in the CCAA last season, is my choice for the eventual winner. Gene Fraser and Don Garman, all-league outfielder and pitcher, respectively, form the nucleus of the Mustang crew.

In addition, Vern Bebernes, third base, and Bob Coghlan, shortstop, both gained all CCAA second team births, are also Obispo regulars.

Mustangs Loaded

The Mustangs also have three players who were awarded honorable mention places on the 1948 mythical nine. They are Pitchers Williams and Crawford, and Rosa, a catcher.

The remaining five conference diamond groups should finish in the following order. College of Pacific, second; Fresno State, third; San Jose State, fourth; San Diego, fifth; and Santa Barbara, sixth.

Cindermen Receive Milkshakes, Layer Cakes for Setting School Track Marks

By HANK PLYMIRE

Chocolate layer cakes and milkshakes... those are the incentives Coach "Bud" Winter waves in the faces of his spikemen for school records and improved performances.

On the bulletin board of the locker room at Spartan field are listed marks slightly better than those yet attained by the cindermen.

Frosh Baseball Crew Have Played Seven Contests

Spartan first year horsehiders, under the able tutelage of Coach Tom Cureton, have gone to the post in seven diamond encounters this season, and before the equipment is packed away, will play nine more contests against Bay area frosh crews and local high school aggregations.

The Spartan Babes roster includes three pitchers, two catchers, six infielders, and six outfielders. Marv Miller, Babe Williams, and Sal Baroni are the chuckers, all three right-handed. Bill Fielder, and John Waddington will perform the backstopping chores.

Tom Birch, first base, Ed Carpenter and Bob Buck, second base, Leon Papkoff, shortstop, and Larry Fernandez and Duane Hall, third base, compose the inner defense, while Don Felice, Dave Stoddard, Aggie Salazar, Tom Costaldo, Les Van Antwerp and George Coakley constitute the outfielders.

The remainder of the frosh schedule is: April 20, Campbell at Campbell, 3:30 p.m.; April 23, St. Mary's frosh at Morgan, 10:30 a.m.; April 26, Lincoln High at Lincoln, 3:15 p.m.; April 27, Hartnell College at San Jose, 3 p.m.; April 30, Stanford at Stanford, 10 a.m.; May 3, University of San Francisco at San Francisco, 3 p.m.; May 12, Stanford Frosh at Stanford, 3:15 p.m.; May 17, Bellarmine Prep at Bellarmine, 3 p.m.; and May 20, California frosh at Berkeley, 10 a.m.

Possibly additional games will be added to the schedule and if this is the case, the entries will be printed in the Spartan Daily.

When an individual hits that mark, he is rewarded with a milkshake by Coach Winter. Then the mark is moved up and the process starts over again.

For those who set new school records, Winter offers chocolate layer cakes. Mel Martin, high jumper has leaped 6 ft. 7-8 inches breaking Billy Smith's mark of 6 ft. 5 in. set in 1942; George Mattos soared 13 ft. 10 1-2 in. erasing the old record of 13 ft. 10 in. made by Tony Sunseri in 1940; and Woody Linn pushed the shot put 50 ft. 9 in. shading Frank Minini's standard of 50 ft. 8 3-8 in. made in 1942, to earn cakes thus far this season.

Bob Crowe, sprint ace, is in line for two milkshakes due to hit 9.7 performance in the 100 yard dash and his 21.2 furlong at Santa Barbara.

Fred Mangini clipped off a 49.8 relay lap in the same meet, thereby putting himself on the Winter "pay off" list. Ivan Bland registered a 6 ft. 2 in. high jump, thus earning a shake too. Bland has a mark of 6 ft. 5 in., which he made in high school. Winter hopes Bland will revert to his high-school form and collect more shakes, thereby giving the Spartans a real one-two punch in the high jump.

Dee Portal Hopes For More Success In East Next Year

By JACK RUSSELL

Disappointment seems to be DeWitt Portal's middle name but the likeable professor of pugilism isn't going to let the hard luck which has dogged him the last two years back east stop him. "Dee" is already looking forward to next year, both with his team and with his boxing inventions. Portal revealed that his patented headguard was used extensively during the NCAA tourney at East Lansing. It is expected to become mandatory for all college bouts next year.

As to the "Portal Point Indicator," which was given somewhat of a cold shoulder in the efete east, there is always next year to iron out the kinks and get experienced judges to operate it.

Portal's eyes really light up when he begins to discuss the team's chances for next year. Only Wayne Fontes, Paul Farris, and Dave Gray will be missing from the squads which went to Sacramento and East Lansing. Six out of the eight boxers who traveled east learned to box in college boxing courses so "Dee" is confident of developing new talent from the hundreds of students enrolled in his courses.

The season's final record shows that Portal's 34 man team won 112 bouts, lost 37, and drew 11. The squad won 10 straight dual meets before losing to Wisconsin. They captured three tournament championships, the CCAA crown, placed third in the nationals and fifth in the PCI tournament.

Madison, Wisconsin is some 2,000 miles away from Hollywood but the Badgers are just as expert in the use of showmanship when they stage a boxing match.

Picture a crowd of 16,000 rabid fans packed into a gym with the capacity of 14,500, even standing on the popcorn and "coke" machines. Suddenly the San Jose State fight song is played by the Wisconsin band and the eight Spartan boxers advance up the aisle. From the opposite aisle comes the Badger team to the tune of "On Wisconsin." The two teams climb into the ring, are introduced, shake hands and leave. The lights then are turned off and a spotlight is shone on the American flag which is snapping in the breeze created by an electric fan. The Star-Spangled Banner is played and the bouts begin with 16,000 voices screaming with every Badger punch.

The psychological effect of such a staging on participants and judges would be enough to turn the tide of battle between two evenly matched teams.

Drinking at Home Cuts Bar Revenues

SACRAMENTO. (UP)—Californians did more drinking at home than at bars last year, the Board of Equalization said yesterday on the basis of tax returns from alcoholic beverages.

Taxes from the sale of packaged liquor jumped 6 per cent in 1948 over 1947. At the same time, collections on wholesale transactions in distilled spirits dropped 1.6 per cent.

The board said revenues from alcoholic beverages in March were $1,086,334, almost 5 per cent below March, 1948.

Baseball Player Protects Truman

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON.—(UP)—For a couple of hours Monday, Milo Candini was more important than all the cops and secret service men in Washington put together.

Milo, a big, muscular fellow with dark hair, had the job—all by himself—of protecting the life and limb of President Truman.

The President, the nation's no. 1 baseball fan, put on his new brown skimmer and went out to Griffin Stadium to help his old friend Clark Griffith and some 26,000 other fans open the major league season. After a lot of band-playing and flag-raising, Mr. T. windmilled his good left arm and let fly with a high, hard one at the ball players flanking the baselines.

Throws 'Spit' Ball

It was a "spitter," the expert baseball writers said—the sort of pitch the old timers used to use to fool the batters. But the President didn't fool Eddie Robinson, the Nats' first baseman, who picked up the souvenir after his teammate, Sid Hudson, had muffed it.

The plate umpire got out, his whisk broom, went through a lot of useless motions and then belted "Play ball."

A roar went up and our man Candini sat down in a little box seat in front of the President and Vice-President Alben W. Barkley. His job was to see that the chief didn't get conked with any foul balls.

Milo was dressed for the occasion in a Washington Senator uniform and wore a wind-breaker. He also wore a new first baseman's mitt, which must have felt a little strange, since the player is a right-handed pitcher.

Exec Hollers for Team

Mr. Truman, who didn't play much ball as a boy because of poor eyesight, certainly proved himself a real fan. He whooped and hollered as loud as the next one every time our side got past the infield with a solid one or made a good play.

For the past three years, the President had rooted for Washington in an opening game. And each time, Clark Griffith's team had let him down.

He told the boys in the press box before yesterday's game that he would stand for no more nonsense. The Nats would get busy and win one for old Harry, "and that's an order."

Harry Predicts Win

The score would be 5-4 in our favor, he said. It turned out to be 3 to 2—same favor, but it was all right. At least Mr. Truman didn't get up and walk out on the boys with the score tide in the ninth inning like Herbert Hoover once did.

It was a good thing he stuck around, too, because Washington came to life in the last stanza with two runs that won the game.

Milo, the protector, didn't get a chance all afternoon to make any fancy catches.

But he had his ears cocked and he reports that the President knows a single from third base. He said Mr. T. kept up a running line of chatter, aimed at both our boys and the enemy team.

Baseball Nuisance?

EDINBURG, Tex.—(UP)—A jury yesterday heard testimony in a trial to determine whether baseball is a "nuisance."

Four home owners who live near the new park constructed by McAllen of the Lower Rio Grande Valley League, are seeking an injunction, preventing use of the park. The home owners claim that the spectators will make too much noise and lights for the night games will make the neighborhood too hot in the summer.

New Student Y Exec

New executive secretary of the Student Y is James A. Martin (above) who will take over his position in August. Martin, an alumnus of Oregon State College, will complete graduate work at Yale Divinity school in June and will be ordained at that time into the Presbyterian ministry.

WAA Wants To Sell 'Surplus' SF Isle

SAN FRANCISCO.—(UP)—War Assets Administration's prospects of selling its surplus island brightened yesterday when a syndicate of travel and vacation agencies announced it would lease Angel Island in San Francisco bay if and when the city busy it.

War Assets values its island, used by the immigration and naturalization service during the war, at $700,000. In addition to underwriting the purchase price over a 20-year period, the syndicate also offered to maintain the roads, supply fire and police protection, furnish a sewage system, maintain the water supply and landscape the island "at no cost to the City of San Francisco", a spokesman said.

The syndicate, composed of the Pacific Greyhound Lines, the Harbor Tug and Barge Co., and the Gelston-Judah Travel Agency plans to convert the island into a recreational center if its offer is accepted.

The first reading of a purchase ordinance was approved by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Endurance Pilots Get $5000 Check

FULLERTON.—(UP)—Dick Riedel and Bill Barris, still in the air yesterday after breaking the previous endurance flight record of 726 hours last Thursday, have received a $5,000 check to pay for their children's doctor bills.

The MacMillan Petroleum Company presented the check to Mrs. Betty Barris and Mrs. June Riedel yesterday in recognition of their husbands' record-breaking flight. They have been in the air more than 830 hours since March 15.

"This money will help buy health for our children," Mrs. Barris said. "That's what the boys are trying for. They went up three times before this, but it was heart-breaking when they were forced down."

Dick Riedel, Jr., 10, has been crippled with arthritis for five years. Pattie Barris, 2, is under doctor's care for asthma, and her one-year-old brother, Steve, needs an eye operation.

Riedel and Barris, who were unemployed, undertook the endurance trip with a $3,500 guarantee from the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce. Their plane, the Sunkist Lady is an Aeronca sedan.
